

NO MORE VOTES UNTIL MONDAY

United States Senatorship A Deadlock At The End Of The First Week Of Voting.

FOUR MEN ARE LEADING EQUALLY

Senate Passes Several Measures And Kills Others Relative To Advertising—Many Have Left For Their Homes.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Madison, Wis., April 19.—The third joint ballot was taken at noon on the senatorship and showed no changes of significance over yesterday. All the changes were due to absences; eleven in number. Six democrats were absent.

The vote on the leading candidates was: Cooper, 19; Esch, 18; Hatten, 16; Lenroot, 15; Stephenson, 10; Bird (democrat), 18. The next republican caucus will be Monday night at 9 o'clock.

It is now apparent after the first week of balloting and caucusing in the Wisconsin legislature, the contest for the seat of John C. Spooner in the United States senate seems further from determination than ever. Ninety-two of the 103 republicans are practically evenly distributed among men who are either deemed impossible of election or who are not candidates. Congressmen Cooper and Esch, ex-Congressman Isaac Stephenson and ex-Speaker I. L. Lenroot each have 19 votes secure, while ex-Senator William H. Hatten has 16 votes. No one seems able to do anything to better his vote, nor is there suspicion that the following of any of the five candidates is insecure or wavering. The prospect is for a long struggle.

Fifteen ballots have been taken in the republican caucus, and the last has not differed materially from any of the preceding votes. A few members who were floating around from one camp to another have been annexed with seeming permanence, but all the leaders have shared in such votes and the situation has daily grown more tightly locked rather than progressing toward a determination. This legislature is preponderantly a La Follette crowd, but in the senatorial contest, members are not taking suggestions from Senator La Follette. Men who were elected on platforms espousing a bigger element in this contest than is Senator La Follette. Generally the members support their home district candidate. Factional lines between stalwarts of anti-La Follette people and the halfbreeds or La Follette people are not closely drawn. Esch, Cooper, Stephenson and Hatten each have stalwarts in their followings, although all profess to be for La Follette in principle. Even Lenroot, who is known as never having breathed in politics other than through La Follette's nostrils, has an able supporter in Senator Hudnall, leader of the opposition that defeated the will of La Follette in the last platform-making convention. There seems to be good grounds to believe the declarations of numerous members that Stephenson nor Lenroot will land the prize. This declaration is heard in all camps save that of Lenroot and Stephenson. In the ranks of Lenroot and Stephenson it is declared that Congressman Esch has killed his chances by being favored by the members known to be controlled by State Chairman Connor and Governor Davidson. This situation involves the most hope for the ultimate election of Congressman Cooper or Mr. Hatten.

Thus far the contest has been remarkably clean and free from the methods that characterized senatorial elections in Wisconsin years ago. Interesting incidents are related on this fact. A notorious lobbyist, who had a reputation of being adept at the fine art of buying legislatures, came to Mr. Stephenson, the millionaire candidate, and desired to hire out to help "get the votes." He was told by old "Uncle Ike," who has been in politics for more than a generation, "Well, times have changed, you know. The game is played differently now. You see, it is no longer a financial proposition." The lobbyist ducked. Managers of all the candidates have declared that their expenses were scarcely worth mentioning outside of hotel bills.

Governor Davidson has not received a vote as yet, but it is understood that an effort to bring him into the ring will be made in the event that the deadlock continues a week or so longer.

The assembly defeated the social democratic memorial to congress for the establishment of a parcels post system. The senate this morning debated the medical advertising bill, and after adopting the amendment to punish publishers for inserting objectionable advertisements and defeating another amendment designed to make the conviction difficult, ordered the bill to engrossment. The first and only veto of Governor Davidson, that of the Elkhorn cemetery removal bill, was overridden by the unanimous vote of the senate and the bill thus becomes a law, the veto having failed in both houses.

WARRANTS ISSUED FOR JOHN I. BEGGS

Cars Stand on the Streets
Overnight.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Milwaukee, Wis., April 19.—Two warrants were issued today for the arrest of John I. Beggs, the general manager of the Milwaukee Electric Railway and Light Co. The charge is for permitting street cars to stand on the streets during the night. This is another factor in the fight between Mayor Becker and Chief Janssen of the Milwaukee police department. The mayor early this week ordered the chief to enforce the ordinance which prohibits leaving cars on the street instead of putting them in the barns at night. This followed Mayor Becker's charges that the chief refused to obey his orders because "He is owned by the Street Car Co." Chief Janssen yesterday demanded that he be suspended and given a public trial on these charges. Chief Janssen today obeyed the mayor's orders, but the mayor has not yet said anything in regard to the suspension of the chief.

TO SPREAD KNOWLEDGE OF INTERNATIONAL LAW

Prominent Americans Organizing Society To Promote Study Of United States
Relations To World.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Washington, D. C., April 19.—That it is of great importance that the public should be educated to a correct understanding of those principles of international law and practice which the United States is called upon to observe in its relations with other nations is the belief of a number of prominent men who gathered in this city today to complete the organization of a society which will work to this end. The promoters of the movement believe that an understanding of international law is more essential to the people of the United States than in other countries because of the influence public sentiment exercises upon the administrative and diplomatic policy of this government.

The formation of such a society was first proposed two years ago by Prof. James B. Scott of Columbia university, now solicitor of the department of state. The project was later endorsed by the Lake Mohonk arbitration conference. Preliminary plans for the organization were drawn up last December at a dinner given by Oscar S. Straus, now secretary of commerce and labor. Temporary organization was effected with Elihu Root as president and with Chief Justice Fuller, Andrew Carnegie, Secretary Taft, Joseph H. Choate, ex-Secretary Olney, Judge Morrow of California and a number of other men of national prominence on the list of vice presidents. It is now proposed to effect a permanent organization and to take up the actual work in view.

The purpose of the society is threefold: I. To develop public interest in the study of international law and to promote the study of international relations on the basis of law and justice, because, as Secretary Root recently pointed out, the great body of the people of the United States and other self-governing nations are gaining more and more control over legislation, administration and diplomacy, and thus render it more and more imperative that they should have a just conception of international rights and duties.

II. To publish a journal, as the organ of the society, by means of which pending questions of international importance may be brought to the personal notice of the people and the public may be kept informed as to the progress of events and receive correct information concerning diplomatic controversies.

III. The third purpose of the society will be to hold annual meetings in order to bring together people from all parts of the country who are interested in the study and development of international law, to exchange ideas, to stimulate each other and promote the agitation and discussion of international questions. The society now has upwards of 400 members, chiefly in New York, Washington, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Boston and other eastern cities. No attempt has been made to interest the public generally or the bar or faculties of the west, because its officers wanted to have something to show before seeking general support. Efforts are now being made to enlist the support of the faculties of law schools throughout the country, instructors and students in diplomacy, history, and political science, judges of the principal courts and members of bar associations. Membership will not be limited to the United States, but the people of the other American republics, Great Britain, Canada, Australia and other English-speaking countries will be invited to join the society.

CHICAGO POLICE IN SEARCH OF O'NEILL

Reported This Morning That They Missed Janesville Man at French Lick.

Unless William O'Neill gave himself up or was captured by the Chicago police this morning he has not yet been arrested. It was announced by the Chicago police department yesterday that they had O'Neill at French Lick, Indiana, but dispatched this morning state that he was missing from the railway work when officers came to get him. Dennis Hayes, of Hayes Bros., for whom O'Neill was working at the time of the trouble with Peterkin, believes that O'Neill has returned to Lockport and is there waiting the officers. Day before yesterday he communicated with his brother, Michael Hayes, at the works they are building and told him O'Neill was wanted and advised that he telegraph him to return at once to Lockport and there give himself up to the officers. It is understood that the Hayes Bros. will see that O'Neill has a fair trial on the charges brought against him. The accused man has a mother, several sisters and a brother here in the city as well as many friends, who are anxious to see him freed from the accusation now hanging over him.

INTERURBAN LOOP MATTER UP AGAIN

Will Be Disposed of in Circuit Court on April 25—But Twelve Cases
Remain on Calendar.

Before Judge Grimm this morning evidence was stipulated in the action of the Beloit, Delavan Lake & Janesville Ry. Co. to condemn property rights in this city at the point where the railway tracks make the loop, and arrangements were made for the presentation of the balance of the evidence on Monday, April 29, at two o'clock. The parties opposed to the granting of this petition are Adah R. Brunson, W. H. H. MacLoom, Floyd Murdock, and heirs of the estate of the late John J. Edwards. While the plaintiff seeks to have the compensation to which the defendants are entitled determined, the defendants maintain that by reason of the alleged fact that the franchise was not properly published and passed by the common council, the traction company cannot condemn and must remove its tracks.

An action brought by Albert King against Mary S. Reynolds, et al., to quiet the title to a certain parcel of real estate, was also passed upon, the court giving judgment for the plaintiff and establishing in him the title.

But twelve cases which have not been disposed of remain on the calendar, and it may take from two to three weeks to try them. Judge Grimm has sent notice to all the attorneys interested, requesting them to appear in court next Monday at 2 p. m. to arrange for the trials. He departs for Jefferson tonight and will return to Janesville Monday night.

NO BLEMISH ON HIS RECORD AS FOREMAN

John Welch Served Northwestern Railway Company Long and Faithfully.

John Welch of 552 Pleasant street, who was retired and pensioned by the Chicago & Northwestern railway company on the first of April, has a most enviable record as a stone-mason foreman. He entered the employ of the Northwestern in 1867 and served them continuously up till the present month. His first work was as a stone cutter under John Watson, of 156 Prospect avenue, who as a foreman was then building the company's bridge at Shojiere.

In 1878 Mr. Welch was advanced to foreman and in that capacity acted until about a year ago. During those three decades he built stone bridges and culverts of varied construction on nearly every main and branch line of the road. Monuments of his labor are scattered all over Wisconsin and through Minnesota, Iowa and Illinois. One of his largest pieces of work is the Rock river bridge at Sterling, Ill., which is of stone and steel. The six piers and two abutments were put in by Mr. Welch. His bridges best known to Janesville people are the Evansville cut-off extension on the North River street viaduct, the huge arch culvert four miles out on the same cut-off and the span under which the electric interurban road passes two miles south of the city. Two years were spent at Sparta where he was in charge of a gang engaged under Mr. Watson in building the famous Sparta tunnels.

As a foreman Mr. Welch was never off duty except during the coldest portions of the winters when it was impossible to do masonry work; never had an accident either to himself or to one of his men; never stopped a fast train for five full minutes and was never called into the general offices for an explanation. Among other things he demonstrated to the officials that the company could build more cheaply than private contractors, constructing the four-mile culvert on the Evansville short line at a vast saving.

Last year Mr. Welch was made an inspector and as such served on the Fox River bridge, a mile south of Green Bay. This structure, which is about a mile in length, had been nearly completed when the central pier on which the drawbridge was to swing, fell. The Northwestern immediately put several old foremen on the work as inspectors and under their eyes fourteen piers were rebuilt.

Mr. Welch is sixty-six years of age, having been born in Ireland, January 23, 1841. At the age of eight he came to America with his parents and lived in Indiana until 1864 when he moved to Janesville and has ever since made his home here.

STUDENTS COMPOSE FOUR BATTLE SONGS

To Be Sung at League Declamatory Contest Here This Evening—Program Announced.

When the audience assembles in the local high school auditorium for the league declamatory contest this evening the school yells of the Janesville rooters will be supplemented by four clever songs. The words of these were composed by different students and are parodies of late song hits. All are clever and should be well rendered, a mass meeting to practice them having been held yesterday afternoon. As opposed to the cheers of the home contingent will be the rooting of four hundred students from four other cities—Evansville, Beloit, Watertown and Palmyra. Whitewater and Beloit will probably send the largest delegations, the former having arranged for a special train for the return trip and the latter being able to go on the interurban. The train service to Evansville is also excellent but the school is smaller and could not send such a large delegation.

Judges have been selected as follows: M. A. Bussewitz, Milwaukee; Charles L. Harper, Madison; E. L. Roothe, Edgerton; G. O. Banting, Stoughton; Frank J. Louth, Clinton. The program, which begins at eight o'clock, is appended:

DEATHS FROM QUAKE MORE THAN HUNDRED

AIR WAS FILLED WITH THICK
SULPHUROUS FUMES.

STREAMS ALSO TAINTED

Further Details of the Destruction Wrought at Chilpancingo and Chilapa—Government Active in Relief.

City of Mexico, April 19.—Direct communication was established Thursday with a number of towns situated in the district most affected by the recent earthquake. From these recent telegrams it is now certain that the death list will exceed 100. There are a number of small towns yet to be heard from, but up to date the average number of fatalities at these places has ranged from nine to twelve and the number of injured from 30 to 40.

Air Full of Sulphur Fumes.

One peculiar phenomenon which has been just made known is that after the first great shock the air was filled for many miles with a thick, sickening, sulphurous odor. This caused great distress to the survivors. There are many speculations as to the cause of the peculiar freak of nature and some consider it as a proof that the earthquake had its origin in some subterranean explosion. For this reason considerable anxiety will be felt until news is received from the sections surrounding the active volcanoes of Colima and Jurello.

Even the water in the streams was made sulphurous, as the following telegram received from Chilpancingo will show:

"Chilpancingo, April 19.—On the 14th of April, at 11:30 p. m., an earthquake shock of terrible intensity was felt here. In the beginning the movement was oscillating and then changed to trepidatory. Nobody could tell how long it lasted on account of the intensity of the phenomena, but it must have been more than four minutes. At the same time there was a very pronounced odor in the air. On the following day almost everybody complained of headaches. In some parts of the city the odor could be detected when excavations for water were made. On the night of the 14th the same odor was detected on the road to Acapulco, and in the streams as far as Aguadulcerro, at a distance of 88 kilometers from here.

Ten Dead at Chilpancingo.

"There are ten dead, among them being the wife of Inspector of Postal Service Senor Leopoldo Lopez Guerra, and a child of eight years, son of the postmaster, Senor Jose Aleman, who perished under the debris of his house. Among the dead is also Mrs. Inez Morales Bonilla.

"Up to the present it is almost impossible to calculate the amount of property loss because, with the exception of the city hall and about 20 other houses, the whole city is in ruins."

Devastation at Chilapa.

From Chilapa, one of the cities most injured by the earthquake, a telegram was received here Thursday which reads:

"The number of injured in this town is 33. For the most part they are of the poorer class. A child of one month was instantly killed by falling walls. Thirty-one houses were completely destroyed. Seven hundred and seventy-nine houses are partly destroyed, including the telegraph office. The total loss of property, including the cathedral, the various churches, the city hall and other buildings, amounts to over $2,000,000.

"The whole population is panic-stricken and nobody is thinking of rebuilding the destroyed houses.

"Since Sunday 25 distinct shocks have been felt."

A big movement is under way in the City of Mexico to furnish relief to those who were rendered homeless and destitute in Guerrero, and already plans are being made for the gathering of a substantial sum for the sufferers.

Once Rich Chicagoan a Suicide.

Chicago, April 19.—John Ailing, 38 years old, member of a wealthy family, formerly member of the Chicago Stock exchange and of the Chicago Athletic club, and conspicuous in social and business circles, went to his room in the Hannah & Hogg hotel, 123 Clark street, Thursday and committed suicide by cutting deep gashes in his wrists, and finally turning on three gas jets. To a friend he had said shortly before that being a "good fellow" had cost him $200,000.

MUELLER ACT INVALID.

Illinois Supreme Court Hits Chicago's Street Car Plan.

Springfield, Ill., April 19.—Among the decisions which were handed down by the supreme court Thursday evening, but which will not be given out before Friday morning, is one, it is reported, declaring the Mueller act invalid. This act authorized the city of Chicago to issue certificates for $75,000,000 with which to purchase the street railways of Chicago, the certificates to be paid out of the surplus earnings of the roads.

Lincoln's "Drought" Is Broken.

Lincoln, Neb., April 19.—Saloonkeepers of Lincoln scored a victory Thursday evening when the supreme court rendered an opinion in effect that licenses granted last April under the old city charter do not expire until May 13 next, when the new municipal year begins under the present charter. In other words, the court holds that the present municipal year extends for practically 13 calendar months. The "drought" which has existed in Lincoln for a week was broken at once, when the 41 saloons reopened.

WISCONSIN WEATHER FORECAST

THE UNITED STATES SENATE
The senate of the United States is often criticised by a class of shallow-brained thinkers; and the opinion is more or less popular that the upper house of congress will be greatly improved when its members are elected by popular vote. The framers of the constitution were wise when they provided for the election of senators by representatives, and the people will display wisdom when they desert from efforts to change the plan. Senator Spooner is good authority, and this is what he recently said to the senate:
"As I am leaving it never to return to it, let me say a few words about the United States senate." It has been harshly and too generally criticised upon various grounds. It is too much, perhaps, to expect that it should be a popular body. It was the intention evidently of the framers of the constitution which created it, that it should not be a popular body; that it should stand between the first and second thought of the people, which is not a pleasant or popular function. It was expected that the house of representatives, coming directly and so often from the people, might be at times more extreme than the real public interest would justify, and the senate was to be the conservative body to safeguard the people against hasty, passionate, or ill-advised measures.
"It is my conviction that there is not in the world a legislative body more loyal to the public interest, more laborious and painstaking in conserving it, or with higher purpose and better, practical ability to legislate wisely and in the interest of the whole country than the senate of the United States."
It was the design of the fathers that the house of representatives should be the dominant branch of congress, just as the house of commons is in England, but when the historian searches for the elite of American statesmanship he will consult the debates of the senate. That body has rendered great services and saved the country from great blunders. It saved the republic from chaos when it refused to convict Andrew Johnson. We would have had the silver standard in 1878 if the senate, over the protest of the house, had overridden the presidential veto of 16 to 1. Anarchy at the south was avoided when the senate killed the Lodge force bill. Only last year the house was bullied into passing joint statehood for Arizona and New Mexico. The United States senate has not yet been, and can not ever be, bullied into something to which it is averse. That is because it stands for sovereign states, assembled in deliberation. It is the sober second thought of this people. Such the fathers designed it, such it has been, such it is, such it will remain as long as it shall be constituted after the manner the fathers designed.

by the bootstraps, and raised its own salaries. The people generally are not disposed to complain. If the next session will take hold of the franking privilege and abolish it, the postal deficit will disappear, and the action most heartily commended.
The businessmen of Providence held a meeting, the other day, and voted unanimously to bar all forms of lake advertising such as hotel registers, church and theatre programs, and numerous other schemes which they recognized as blackmail. The businessmen of Janesville signed a similar agreement for their own protection, some two years ago, but many of them do not observe it. Money invested in this class of so-called publicity is worse than wasted.
It is estimated that 20,000 automobiles are owned within 50 miles of New York city hall. More than 100,000 of these machines are now in use, in the United States, and the factory output this year, will be larger than ever before. While comparatively a new industry, it ranks with the largest manufacturing interests of the nation. The automobile has come to stay.
The government of Japan has a purchasing agent in this country, with headquarters at Philadelphia. He has placed orders for 200 locomotives, several thousand cars, and many tons of steel rails, to be used largely on the Manchurian road, now building. Japan is rapidly installing her own car shops, and will soon be in position to supply home demands.
One of the large paper mills, in the Adirondack country, sold 500 tons of paper last year to the manufacturers of sticky fly-paper. That ought to capture a good many flies. Another paper mill in Maine supplies the government with one million sheets a month for postage stamps, from which 261 million stamps are made.
Most of the great trunk lines east have advanced the age limit of new employees, from 35 to 45 years. The discovery has been made that mature judgment is of slow growth and the average man is at his best after he passes the age of 40.
A bill has been passed by the legislature which will be heartily endorsed by the teachers. It provides that they shall be paid regular wages for the time spent at the annual state convention. This will give them their holidays at home and change the date of the convention to October.

Literary Note
It is not only professional wielders of the birch who will want to read what Professor George Herbert Palmer has to say in the April Atlantic on "The Ideal Teacher"; for the teacher—more or less ideal—has a crucial part to play in the life of a modern community, and all of us, parents, college students, even ten-year-olds, have our ideas as to what qualities go into the making of this rare individual. Professor Palmer announces that the only kind of teacher for whom he writes is the one "who is drawn into teaching by the love of it, who regards it as the most vital of the fine arts, who is ready to meet some hardships and to put up with moderate fare if, by so doing, he may win the rich opportunities." And what qualities must such a teacher possess? Sympathetic imagination is one, cumulative wealth of knowledge and experience is another; the third is "an ability to invigorate life through knowledge," and the fourth—hardest of all—"a readiness to be forgotten." Perhaps that looks like a difficult schedule; but then most ideals are. That does not make them any the less worth while.

THE POSTAL DEFICIT
Since the retirement of Fourth Assistant Postmaster General Madden, the much-discussed postal deficit has largely dropped from sight.
While the national government is so actively engaged in reforming things, it might be advisable to take a day off and clean house at home. The great octopus which saps the life of the postal department, to the tune of more than twenty million dollars a year, is the much-abused franking privilege, enjoyed by members of congress and government officials.
Anything from a piano, to a carload of household furniture, is shipped by mail. The delusive "frank" has no regard for distance and the many tons of various kinds of calamities dead-headed to the Philippine islands for the benefit of officials and employees would make a Standard Oil rebate look like thirty cents.
Who pays the freight on this class of commodities? The people, of course. Every railroad and steamship company is paid for government tonnage handled, in the good hard money of the realm, and every frank used by an employee is a perquisite in addition to a salary which is usually liberal for services rendered.
Talk about postal abuses on the part of publishers, it isn't a circumstance to the abuses constantly practiced under a system hoary with age, and mossbacked beyond reclaim.
It was a good thing for the railroads when the government abolished the pass system, and it will be a good thing for the people if some way can be devised to reach the franking privilege, and regulate it beyond recognition.
The government printing office is an adjunct of the system, that should go at the same time. It has a mania for printing tons of literature that is consigned to the waste basket every month, and the strongest argument used for this waste of money is, that it costs nothing to distribute the product. The last congress took itself beyond question has the same chance as any one of the candidates and has just as good if not even better chance than has Congressman Esch. If the contest does not drag into a deadlock it can be said to look like Cooper succeeding Senator Spooner.

The Sense of Humor.
Chicago Record-Herald: The most humorous thing in the Sunday papers yesterday, both as tested by the author's straining eagerness to be witty and by the public's irresistible desire to laugh at—not with—his production, was George Harvey's speech attacking President Roosevelt. And yet, paradoxical as it may seem, if that speech proves anything positively it is that Mr. Harvey has in some unfortunate manner managed to lose his sense of humor.
This unfortunate man is widely known as the literary lieutenant of J. Pierpont Morgan. In his capacity of editor of Harper's Weekly, and The North American Review, one would think that he came into sufficiently close contact with the world around him to keep that balance and sound sense which is at the basis of genuine humor. But no. He occupies a lofty pinnacle, and he occupies it so vehemently that that pinnacle has become the whole of reality for him, with nothing else in the world except the fearsome big-toothed, big-stick-bearing figure of the "king that is a child," that "spectacle of blatant profligacy, yawning from the pinnacle of self-appreciation," which is aiming at "the destruction of the very fabric of free institutions."
The Northern Securities Company has been dissolved, the Standard Oil Company is being compelled to give up its criminal habits, the public land thieves of the West are on the run, Harriman is waiting his turn, the United States senate has bent the knee and consented to the passage of a most salutary railroad rate bill, pure food legislation has been enacted after twenty years of sneers from the nation's legislators, the Panama Canal is being constructed with admirable expedition despite unceasing underground obstruction at Washington; and yet all that Mr. Harvey and those for whom he speaks can see is that our "king is a child."

The American people get two great laughs out of this. One is right now. The other will be the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, 1908. And there will be numerous small smiles in between.

We often hear the remark that "We use ice only for cooling purposes," so it makes no difference where it comes from. Well, we might ask, what of the residue? A FEE OF $1500.

Some seven or eight years ago Dr. Richards was considering the matter of going to India with a dentist friend of his to practice dentistry in the city of Calcutta.

It was reported that an American dentist could make a big go of it over there.

Dr. Richards hesitated because of the fearful heat and finally located in Janesville.

The other man talked his brother into it and they actually went.

The other day Dr. Richards received a newspaper clipping describing in detail an officially engineered visit of the dentist to the Royal Anceer.

The dentist was gone two months from his office, traveled over 1000 miles with a royal mounted escort of forty horsemen and was treated like a prince.

He placed six gold fillings in the Anceer's mouth and brought home a fee of $1500 in gold.

It looks like he was doing fairly well over there.

That's probably the world's record as to dental fees.

Dr. Richards here in Janesville does not cater for big fees.

Reasonable prices and careful work have built up for him the largest dental practice in the city.

Try him for your next dental work. Office over Hall & Sayles' Jewelry Store.

SCHUMAKER'S CONDITION IS REPORTED AS SERIOUS

MAN SHOT BY FLORENCE DUGAN LAST NIGHT MAY DIE.

MAKES ANTE-MORTEM STATEMENT TODAY

Woman Is Locked in the Jail Pending the Outcome of His Injuries.

Wounded, and lying in a critical condition at Mercy Hospital, George Schumacher, a local painter, hovers between life and death with two bullets in his body.

In the hospital where she can be near him is Margaret Smith, of Rome, Jefferson county, waiting for news from his bedside and anxious to do something to aid the man she was to marry.

At the county jail a little woman with eyes sits behind the bars, almost unkindly of her surroundings and waits the results of her shots upon the man she claims wronged her, beat her, and then deserted her for another woman.

It is one of those sordid tales that do not often reach a climax in a city the size of Janesville. A story of a woman who alleges serious wrongs against her womanhood, a man who is alleged to have trifled with her affections to satisfy his lust. Deserted and scorned, seeing her erstwhile lover about to wed another woman, powerless to stop him, she seeks the only method known to her, crazed brain—revenge, and fires a shot into his back as he passes her on the street with her rival, and a second one into his body as he lies prostrate on the ground.

Florence Dugan's story is a pitiful one. Whether she is mentally sound, whether her story told the district attorney yesterday afternoon, is correct, remains to be seen. She tells of marriage in Rockford with the man she shot, four years of slavery and drudgery with frequent abuse, robbed of her savings, forced to borrow and beg money for Schumacher, supporting him in weeks of idleness and finally his tearing up of the marriage certificate, beating her and deserting her for another woman.

Strange as it may seem, she went to the sheriff's office, the city marshal, and even the district attorney's office, during the present week, seeking justice for the wrongs she alleges. Her tale is a sad one and had such a ring of truth to it that District Attorney Fisher determined to investigate. It had a letter written to send to the district attorney of Jefferson county asking that he look into the life of Schumacher and a woman named Smith, who were supposed to be living as man and wife in Rome. The letter was written but not signed and Mr. Fisher was in his office to sign and mail it when news of the shooting reached him.

According to the story of both Schumacher and Miss Dugan, the couple parted last Monday night, in anger. Schumacher, telling the girl he was going to leave town and driving her back as she followed him on the street. Wednesday she visited the sheriff with her troubles. Then she called on Chief Appleby and Thursday afternoon, a few hours before the shooting, poured her tale forth to District Attorney Fisher. Schumacher she believed was in Rome. It is learned that shortly before seven last evening she was told he was in the city with Margaret Smith, her rival. Securing permission to leave her work at the Riverside hotel, she started to find the couple. Where she obtained the revolver is not known yet but it is a cheap affair of a thirty-two calibre.

It was a few minutes after seven when she met Schumacher and Miss Smith on Academy street near Powell's saloon.

Stepping in front of the man she spoke to him, only to be roughly brushed aside and ignored.

"Well, we may as well settle this right here and now," she replied.

"I have nothing to settle with you," Schumacher is reported to have said, walking by.

Following the couple a few paces she drew her revolver and fired, the bullet entering the man's body almost in the middle of the back; stepping to the front of him as he dropped to the ground, she fired again and was about to shoot a third time when Officers Mason and Champion, standing on the corner, rushed up, seized and disarmed her.

She remained passive even after she was locked in a cell at the county jail. She made no complaint, made no statement except to say her head buzzed a good deal. She sat in her cell in the tier above the office quietly and once or twice asked for news of Schumacher. In no way did she appear to realize what she had done beyond right her alleged wrongs in the code of the "unwritten law."

Even when District Attorney Fisher came to the jail with a stenographer and asked for her story she was willing to talk, cool and collected, and would doubtless have made a statement had it not been that Attorney Harry Maxfield appeared and warned her to say nothing. Later she retained Maxfield to look after her interests.

This morning she was very quiet, ate a little breakfast, but showed no emotion when her sister came to see her and talked quietly to her through the cell door.

At the hospital where Schumacher was hurried Drs. Waufile and Piffled cared for him. They report the man in a serious condition, no probing after the bullets having been done as yet. Schumacher was told he was in a critical condition and even upon this statement denied the whole story of the woman in an ante-mortem statement to the district attorney.

He denied having promised to marry the woman, denied being married to her, denied taking money from her or ill-using her in any way. His story was emphatic and if the supposed dying statement of a man can be believed, completely repudiates the woman's story.

This morning his condition was about the same, showing but slight change. The doctors do not hold out any great hope for his recovery, but make no decided statement as to his real condition.

Margaret Smith, his companion, fell when the shooting occurred, and was taken in a fainting condition to the city lock-up and later at the request of Schumacher taken to the Mercy Hospital where she remained at his bedside all night. According to her story she and Schumacher were engaged to be married. Schumacher had met her in Rome, Jefferson county, and last Monday went to her father's farm, a few miles from Sullivan, and asked her hand in marriage. They were to have been wedded soon. She knew nothing of the Dugan woman until she received a letter from her recently which brought her to Janesville to investigate. She appears to be a girl of character and is crushed by the prominence that she has been given in the affair.

This morning District Attorney Fisher made a second statement from Schumacher in the presence of Attorney Harry L. Maxfield, W. H. Appleby, Drs. J. F. Pember and G. W. Fifield, and E. A. Kohler, the stenographer, in which he detailed his experiences with Florence Dugan. His statement was similar to the one made last night and he denies emphatically ever having either married the woman or having promised to marry her. He placed the blame for being intimate with her upon the girl herself, saying she got him drunk, hired rigs to drive him about the country in, and otherwise enticed him. He said he first met her in Darien while painting a house there and that she followed him to Janesville, and has continually followed him; that she went to Watertown and told people there he was married. He denied having borrowed money from her and told of the letter she wrote Miss Smith at Rome that brought the young lady down here to investigate. He denied having lived with the Dugan woman and otherwise contradicted the story told by the woman to District Attorney Fisher on Thursday afternoon.

The statement is a lengthy one and was given by Schumacher after he had been told by the doctors that he would probably die from his wounds. He appears to realize his condition is critical and that death is imminent. He told in detail of the shooting and swore that the statement he had just made was the truth.

The parents of Margaret Smith, the young lady with Schumacher when he was shot, have arrived in the city to be with their daughter, who is heartbroken over the affair.

It is now planned to operate upon Schumacher at four o'clock for the two bullets which are imbedded in his back and near his lungs. The doctors are still non-committal as to the outcome. District Attorney Fisher may order an examination as to Florence Dugan's mental condition, even in event of Schumacher's surviving. Her actions have been such as to advise such action.

Only Way to Do Good.
There is only one way to make men better. The work must be done from the inside. The seed must be planted in the human heart. The individual conscience must be awakened and enlightened. No reform theory can be made which is automatic. The individual must do the reforming within himself, and all that the outside world can do is to lend him a sustaining hand, a cheering voice and an encouraging look.—Exchange.

Money in Bogus Pennies.
Strangely enough, the most profitable coins to counterfeit are pennies, because for an expenditure of 18 cents 100 of them can be made, which leaves a profit of 82 cents on the dollar. The chief difficulty is in getting them into circulation. It also takes expert workmanship to make these pennies, because they must be made with a die. The best counterfeiters pay most of their attention to the making of quarters, half dollars and dollars. With silver at 60 cents an ounce a counterfeiter can make five quarters from every ounce, quarters that ring true and have every appearance of the real thing.—New York World.

 Pa: "The alarm clock goes off and makes the bull dog angry, and the dog prances around and pulls that cord attached to the man's toe; that wakes him up."

S.S.S. PURELY VEGETABLE

Not only is a medicine valuable for its ability to cure disease, but the way in which it affects the system is a very important factor. When the system is infected with the germs of disease as in Rheumatism, Catarrh, Scrofula, Sores and Ulcers, Skin Diseases, Contagious Blood Poison, etc., every particle of its recuperative strength is needed to assist in eliminating the poisons and impurities which are causing the trouble. It should not be dosed and treated with strong mineral mixtures and concoctions that further add to the burden, by disagreeably affecting the bowels, producing indigestion, or eating out the delicate linings and membranes of the stomach. The absolute vegetable purity of S. S. S. has always been one of the strongest points in its favor, and is one of the principal reasons for its being now the most widely known and universally used blood medicine on the market. It is made entirely of healing, purifying roots, herbs and barks of the forests and fields. These are selected for their well known curative properties, and are known at the same time to possess the qualities to build up and strengthen every part of the system by their fine tonic effect. Not only is S. S. S. the king of blood purifiers, but it is the one medicine that may be taken with absolute safety by young or old. We guarantee it non-injurious and offer a reward of $1,000 for proof that it contains a particle of mineral in any form. S. S. S. is a safe and reliable treatment for Rheumatism, Catarrh, Scrofula, Sores and Ulcers, Skin Diseases, Contagious Blood Poison, and any and all diseases arising from a poisoned or impure state of the blood. It goes to the very bottom of these troubles, removes every trace of disease, enriches and builds up the blood and permanently cures where mineral medicines fail. If you are suffering with any form of blood disease write for our book on The Blood and ask for any medical advice you may desire; no charge for either. THE SWIFT SPECIFIC CO., ATLANTA, GA.

THE PLUM TREE

BY DAVID GRAHAM PHILLIPS

AUTHOR OF THE COST OF THE DOLLAR, ETC.

"It's a risk," said I. I saw at once that he was right, but I was in a reluctant humor.

"Not a bit of it," was his confident reply. "I had a horse that was crazy—would run away on any old provocation. But no matter how busy he was at kicking up the dust and the dashboard, you could always halt him by ringing a bell, once. He'd been in the street car service. That's the way it is with men, especially strong men, that have been broken to the bell. They hear it ring and they can't resist. Go up and ring the bell."

"Go ring it yourself," said I. "You're the bell," said he.

CHAPTER XXXI.

Harvey Saylor, Swinehead. At a little after eight the following night, I was in Chicago, was knocking at suite L in the Auditorium hotel; I was hearing sounds from within that indicated that the dinner was under way. The door swung back, and there stood old Roebuck himself, napkin in hand, his shriveling old face showing that his dollar sense was taking up the strength, which his other senses were losing. He was saying cordially: "Ah, Croft, you are late—"

Then his dim eyes saw me; he pulled himself up like a train when the air brakes are clapped on.

"They told me at the office that you were at dinner," said I, in the tone of one who has unintentionally blundered. "As I was looking for dinner, I rather hoped you'd ask me to join you. But I see that—"

"Come right in," he said smoothly, but gray as a sheep. "You'll find some old friends of yours. We're taking advantage of the convention of western manufacturers to have a little reunion."

I now had a full view of the table. There was, as usual, that made the creaking of starved evening shirts-bosoms noisy as those men drew long stately breaths when breathing became imperative. All my "clients" and Dominick—he at Roebuck's right. At Roebuck's left there was a vacant chair. "Shall I sit here?" said I easily.

"That place was reserved—was for—but," stammered Roebuck. "For Granby's ghost?" said I, pleasantly.

His big lips writhed. And as my glance of greeting to these old friends of mine traveled down one side of the table and up the other, it might have been setting those faces on fire, so brightly did they flame. "It was hard for me to keep my disgust beneath the surface. Those 'gentlemen,' assembled there were among the 'leading citizens' of my state; and Roebuck was famous on both sides of the Atlantic as a king of commerce and a philanthropist. Yet, every one of those brains was busy most of its hours with assassin-like plottings—and for what purpose? For ends so petty, so gross and stupid that it was inconceivable how intelligence could waste life upon them, not to speak of the utter depravity and lack of magnanimity. Liars, cheats, bribers; and flaunting the fruits of infamy as honors, as titles to respect, as gifts from Almighty God! And here they were, assembled now for silly plottings against the man whose only offense in their eyes was that he was saving them from themselves—was preventing them from killing the goose that would cheerfully keep on laying the golden eggs for the privilege of remaining alive. It was pitiful."

Croft advanced, smiling. "I am fit for my company," thought I as I let him clasp my hand.

"Better sit, Granby's ghost out of that chair, Croft," said Dominick, as the ex-senator was seating himself. And in his animal exuberance of delight at his joke and at the whole situation he clapped Roebuck on the shoulder.

Roebuck shrank and winced. Moral humiliation he could shed as an armor-plated turret sheds musket balls. But a physical humiliation, especially with spectators, sank in and sank deep. Instantly, alarmed, lest Dominick had seen and understood, he smiled and said: "That's a vigorous arm of yours, Mr. Dominick."

"Not bad for a man of 60," said Dominick.

I ate because to eat was a necessary part of my pose to absolute calmness; but I had to force down the food. It seemed to me to embody the banquet there, set before my mental appetite. I found I had no stomach for that banquet. It takes the coarse palate of youth or the depraved palate of a more debauched manhood than mine to enjoy such a feast. Yet, less than a year before, I had enjoyed, had delighted in, a far less strenuous contest with these murderers. As I sat holding down my gorge and acting as if I were at ease, I suddenly wondered what Elizabeth Crosby would think of me if she could see. And then I saw her, with a reality of imagining that, startled me—it was as if she were in the doorway; and her eyes lifted to mine in that slow, steady, searching gaze of hers.

I suppose if a soldier thrusting his saber into the bowels of his enemy on the battlefield were suddenly to see before him his mother or the good and gentle wife or daughter he loved, he would drop the saber and fly to hide himself like a murderer. So, I, overwhelmed, said to myself: "I cannot go on! Let these wretches wallow in their own villainess. I shall not wallow with them. I am no swinehead!"

As I was debating how to escape and what one of the many other ways of saving my friends and lieutenants I should adopt, Dominick touched me on the arm. "A word with you, senator," said he.

He glanced at the others as if he were debating whether he should order them from the table while he talked with me. If he had ordered ful. "It was nauseating. I felt my degradation in stooping to such company."

I spoke to Dominick last. To my surprise he squarely returned my gaze. His eyes were twinkling, as the eyes of a pig seem to be, if you look straight into its face when it lifts its snout from a full trough. Presently he could contain the huge volume of his mirth no longer. It came roaring from him like a great coarse torrent, shaking his vast bulk and the chair sustained it, swelling the veins in his face, resounding through the silent room while the waiters literally stood agast. At last he found breath to ejaculate: "Well, I'll be good and—darned!"

This gale ripped from the others and whirled away their cloaks of surface-composure. Naked, they suggested a lot of rats in a trap—Dominick jeering at them and anticipating the pleasure of watching me torture them. I choked back the surge of repulsion and said to Roebuck: "Then where shall I sit?"

Roebuck looked almost wildly toward the foot of the table. He longed to have me as far from him as possible. Partridge, at the foot of the table, cried out in alarm: "Make room for the senator between you and Mr. Dominick, Roebuck! He ought to be as near the head of the table as possible."

"No matter where Senator Saylor sits, it's the head of the table," said Roebuck. His commonplace courtesy indicated, not recovered self-control, but the cunning of his rampant instinct of self-preservation—that cunning which men so often exhibit in desperate straits, thereby winning credit for cool courage.

"We're a merry company," said I, as we sat. This, with a glance at Dominick heaving in the subsiding storm of his mirth. My remark set him off again. I glanced at his place to see if he had abandoned his former inflexible rule of total abstinence. There stood his inevitable pot of tea. Clearly, it was not drink that enabled him to enjoy a situation which, as it seemed to me, was fully as unattractive to him as for his fellows.

Soon the door opened and, in strode Croft; handsome, picturesque, with his pose of dashing, brave manhood, which always got the crowds into a mood for the frenzy his oratory conjured. Croft seemed to me to put the climax upon this despicable company—Croft, one of the great orators of the party, adored by the people; that but for overwhelming superiority in the state, I should never have dared eject him from office. Since I ejected him he had not spoken to me. Dominick looked at him, said in a voice that would have flared even the warm ashes of manhood into a furious blaze: "Go and shake hands with Senator Saylor, Croft, and sit down."

Croft advanced, smiling. "I am fit for my company," thought I as I let him clasp my hand.

"Better sit, Granby's ghost out of that chair, Croft," said Dominick, as the ex-senator was seating himself. And in his animal exuberance of delight at his joke and at the whole situation he clapped Roebuck on the shoulder.

Just a Light Rub

is all they need when washed with

Beach's Peosta Soap

No boiling—no hard rubbing—harmless—Pure soap, scientifically made, that is the secret.

Take good care of your wringers. It will do better work and last longer. After each washing, lower all the small rollers, relieve rollers from pressure, oil all the metal parts a little, over with a dash and machine will run smoothly. When ready to use it, dust and wash thoroughly, wipe off all oil, tighten rollers as desired and you will have an easy-running wringer, free from squeaks.
